

April 21, 2005

To All Our Valued Customers:

Voltronics Corporation, a global company, is committed to the protection and stewardship of the environment. As such, we have been proactive in our approach to the February 2003 European Union Directive 2002/95/EC regarding the restrictions of certain hazardous substances in electrical and electronic equipment (RoHS).

Therefore, we are very pleased to announce that effective January 1, 2005 all of our multi-turn variable capacitors are in compliance with this directive. Effective June 1, 2005, all half-turn ("J" Series) variable capacitors will be in compliance with this directive.

Should you have any questions regarding this announcement, our staff will be happy to address them. Feel free to contact us directly at (973) 586-8585 with any comments or concerns that you may have.

Looking forward to our continued business relationship,

Sincerely,
Voltronics Corporation
